

The Mission of the North Carolina Transportation Museum and Foundation

The Mission of the North Carolina Transportation Museum and Foundation at Historic Spencer Shops is to preserve and interpret the history of transportation in North Carolina and to present this history in a manner which allows visitors to enjoy their experience as well as learn from it.

Objectives related to the mission are:

- To preserve the buildings and other historic features of Spencer Shops
- To interpret the history of the Southern Railway repair facility, the community and the people who were associated with it.
- To operate an on-going program of transportation artifact restoration and conservation.
